25X1A

1. Attached is a proposed Revision #1 of Central Intelligence Agency Regulation ☐

2. This change envisages presenting indoctrination of a very basic and simplified nature to all new employees as soon as they have received the Agency Security Briefing.

3. The proposal also opens the Orientation Course to all CIA employees, Grade GS-5 and above, and will be conducted regularly once each three months, thus enabling all offices of CIA to plan their meetings to tie in with the time of the Orientation Course.

4. This proposal has received wide support from the various offices in CIA. Because of the close relationship in conducting this function, we have received specifically the concurrences of the Director of Personnel and of the CIA Security Officer.

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Chief, Organization and Methods Service DATE: 26 January 1952

FROM : Office of General Counsel

SUBJECT: Proposed CIA Regulations Nos. [REDACTED], Non-CIA Training 25X1A
under Public Law 110

1. Referring to your memorandum of 14 January 1952 requesting concurrences or comments on the proposed revision of the above regulations, I concur generally in this revision but would like to make the following comments.

2. Certain CIA personnel to whom the Agency might wish to give non-CIA training will not be covered by the regulations. Thus paragraph A of proposed CIA Regulation No. [REDACTED] establishes the standard 25X1A of whether the instruction "will benefit the Agency through increasing employee capability and qualifications of performing later assigned duties". Under paragraph C of proposed CIA Regulation No. [REDACTED] 25X1A eligible employees are limited to staff employees, staff agents and those employed for further instruction prior to assignment as such. Section 10.1 of the Confidential Funds Regulations authorizes special schooling for personnel stationed abroad where cover or other essential operational requirements warrant such schooling.

25X1A 3. The two regulations would appear to be designed to cover the United States under [REDACTED] and abroad under [REDACTED]. However, the particu- 25X1A lar wording of the two is somewhat different and results in apparent gaps of authority. Thus there will be no authority in the regulations to give non-CIA training in the United States to the following:

- [REDACTED] →
- a. any CIA personnel for cover purposes.
 - b. any contract employee, contract agent or career agent for any purpose

2. Policy?

You may deem it desirable that all matters of training in non-CIA facilities be included in the regulations. This could be done by a general statement authorizing the Director of Training to approve training at non-CIA facilities not otherwise authorized in [REDACTED] of the CFR's.

25X1A
25X1A

4. Proposed CIA Regulation No. [REDACTED] paragraphs A (2), (h), and (i) indicate that an employee who accepts non-CIA training has an obligation to repay the Agency by continued service after such training. However, the nature of such obligation is not spelled out. This may result in unequal standards of obligations, including a mere indication of a moral obligation. The comment in this paragraph is offered as a suggestion for your consideration.

25X1A

1. The following modifications are suggested for proposed CIA Regulation [REDACTED]

25X1A

Paragraph A: Final authorization for appointing trainees is properly located with the Director of Training, however, in the last sentence of the paragraph reading, "qualifications for performing later assigned duties," it is felt that the term "later" should be struck out.

Paragraph D: It is suggested that the second sentence be changed by substituting, for the words "He may - - - terminate", the following: "Office heads may recommend to the Director of Training institutions of particular usefulness to them. The Director of Training may, after consultation with the Assistant Director concerned, terminate" - - - -"

Paragraph D. (1): Should be changed to read, "Approve requests for instruction of individuals processed in accordance with Agency Regulation [REDACTED]"

25X1A

Paragraph E: It is suggested that the opening sentence of this paragraph should be changed to read, "Office Heads recommending instruction for their employees are responsible for: (1) Assuring that nominees are appointed by selected criteria in line with Agency standards; (2) Determining that the instruction requested is pointed toward the office objectives." The remainder of the paragraphs should be renumbered accordingly.

Paragraph E. (2), renumbered E (4): The second sentence, "These services include:" is not clear. If the following sentences, (a) and (b), constitute all the services in question, the word "include" should be changed to "are". If other services are implied but not stated, the sentence should read, "These services include, but are not limited to:"

Paragraph E (5), renumbered E (7) should be changed to read, "Submitting annual estimates of requirements for instruction under this authority to the Director of Training for inclusion in the budget estimate of that office as required by the Comptroller."

2. This Office has no suggestions on proposed Regulation and approves it as submitted.

MEMORANDUM TO MR. HOUSTON

FROM: Mr. Kelley 5X1
25X1A

25X1A

1. Reference is made to memorandum of 3 March 1951 from Colonel Baird to DD/A forwarding therewith revision to AI No. and Paragraph 10.1 of the CFRs.

2. I foresee no difficulty under either of these revisions, but feel some comment is appropriate in connection with Paragraph 7 of the proposed revision to AI No. and Paragraph 10.1b of the revision to Paragraph 10.1 of the CFRs.

3. Paragraph 7 refers to agreements between the Agency and employees given such education and training so as to ensure a reasonable period of service upon completion of schooling. The propriety of such assurance cannot be challenged, however its enforcement may possibly present some difficulty. It would be impossible to impose any services upon an unwilling employee, which suggests a liquidated amount, perhaps the cost of the schooling, as the measure of damages in the event of breach. This would equate to a debt due and owing to the Government which upon default would be immediately due and payable.

4. Proposed revision to 10.1b carries the following language:

"Such approval may include tuition and related educational expenses, and any additional living, travel, or similar expenses resulting from such schooling."

I believe the above quoted sentence may be too broad and therefore present some difficulty to our certifying people. I would suggest, therefore, the following sentence:

"Such approval may include tuition and educational expenses and any reasonable or necessary living, traveling, or other expenses incurred in connection with such schooling and incident to the purpose of the Government."

In the above sentence the expense qualifies as a government expense upon it being reasonable and necessary and incident to a government purpose. I believe this should be the standard. Sweeping standards sometimes have the unhappy faculty of covering items of a personal or semi-personal nature.

SUBJECT: Assignment to Non-CIA Training Facilities

1. Public Law 110, 81st Congress, authorizes the Director to assign or detail employees to non-CIA training facilities for special instruction, research or training.
2. Non-CIA training facility is defined to include domestic or foreign, public or private institutions, trade, labor, agricultural or scientific associations, and courses or training programs under the Department of Defense or commercial firms.
3. Employees is defined to include departmental employees paid from vouchered or unvouchered funds, and staff agents. Included in departmental employees are individuals who have been employed for the purpose of giving them further education or training prior to the assumption of regular full-time positions under any of the categories listed above.
4. Schooling under the authority of Public Law 110 and this Administrative Instruction may embrace any subject, course, curriculum, craft, or skill which, in the judgment of the recommending officer and the Director of Training will eventually benefit the Agency by making the employee better qualified for his present position or qualified for different or greater responsibility.
5. The Director of Training is authorized to approve such schooling or training in accordance with the demands of the Agency training program or upon recommendation or request of appropriate Assistant Directors or Office chiefs. Approval of such schooling shall include approval of payment of tuition and directly related educational expense, additional living or travel expenses growing out of such assignment or detail, and, where necessary or appropriate, the furnishing of services or support other than money to the individual or to the institution providing the training. The payment of tuition and directly related educational expense may be by reimbursement or advance to the individual or by direct payment to the institution providing the training. Where necessary for reasons of security advance will be made to the employee in order not to reveal Agency interest in the individual or the training or schooling being given.
6. It shall be the further responsibility of the Director of Training to arrange administratively for the assignment or detail to the school or institution upon approving the request of an operating official. schooling for the individual or groups of employees concerned and any special considerations necessary for determining the appropriateness of such schooling or for accomplishing the detail or assignment.

7. The Director of Training and the Director of Personnel, with the advice and assistance of the General Counsel, are directed to provide for agreements between the Agency and employees given such education or training to ensure a reasonable term of service from the employee after the completion of such schooling.

8. The Director of Training is further authorized, where he has determined necessary schooling is otherwise unavailable, to provide, under such cover as security considerations may require, the needed training either by support of an outside agency or by the establishment of appropriate school or schools to be operated by the Agency itself.

9. Salary costs of employees being given schooling under these provisions will be borne by the Office or Staff recommending or requesting such schooling. All other expenses will be charged against the Office of Training. Each Assistant Director and Office Chief who anticipates requesting training under these instructions is directed to forward estimates for schooling annually in advance to the Director of Training for inclusion in his budget requests. The first annual estimate will be completed and forwarded to the Director of Training not later than 15 May 1951.

10. The Director of Training will approve schooling only in those institutions which he has determined maintain appropriate standards of such staff, plant, facilities and instruction and will terminate the program at any institution which fails to so maintain its standards. He will also determine achievement standards for employees being given schooling under these provisions and will at his discretion terminate such schooling for failure to maintain the required rate of achievement. He will also terminate, alter or amend programs of schooling as required by Agency needs or interests.

REVISION OF PARAGRAPH 10.1, CONFIDENTIAL FUNDS REGULATIONS

10.1 Educational Expenses

a. The Director of Training is authorized to approve education or training of Agency employees at non-CIA facilities, in accordance with the demands of the Agency training program or upon the specific request of appropriate Assistant Directors or office chiefs. Such schooling may be at any foreign or domestic, public or private institution, trade, labor, agricultural or scientific association, or any course or training program under the Department of Defense or commercial firm. Such schooling may be in any subject, course, curriculum, craft, or skill which will eventually benefit the Agency. Such schooling will be approved under these regulations only when circumstances preclude the use of similar authorities elsewhere granted.

b. Requests or recommendations by Assistant Directors of covert Offices for such schooling for any employee, including staff agents, must be approved by the Director of Training. Such approval may include tuition and related educational expenses, and any additional living, travel, or similar expenses resulting from such schooling. Such approval will include any special method of payment or reimbursement required by the security considerations of the individual case. Any requests or recommendations for approval for such schooling must give sufficient information, including the name of the employee, the name of the school, the subject course, or curriculum, the inclusive dates, and estimate of costs, recommended method of payment, justification for the schooling and for the use of this authority, and any special considerations, for determination of necessity.

c. The Director of Training will arrange or approve administrative arrangements for such schooling and will insure that satisfactory agreements exist between employees and the Agency to insure a reasonable term of service subsequent to such schooling.

d. Schooling in foreign institutions, which is solely for the purpose of operational cover, will not require the approval of the Director of Training.

e. Salary costs of employees being given schooling under these provisions will be borne by the Office or Staff recommending or requesting such schooling. All other expenses will be charged against the Office of Training. Each Assistant Director and Office Chief who anticipates requesting training under these instructions is directed to forward estimates for schooling annually in advance to the Director of Training for inclusion in his budget requests. The first annual estimate will be completed and forwarded to the Director of Training not later than 15 May 1951.

Tuition and Related Payments Under Section 4, Public Law 110

1. Reference is made to the discussion Mr. [] had with you on the limiting aspects of the word "special" in Section 4 (a), of Public Law 110. I understand that there is some question about our authority to spend money for certain educational programs which we propose to inaugurate as part of the over-all career development program for CIA. In order that you may have grounds for necessary discussions with the Comptroller General, I am outlining below three of several programs which we propose, these three being those which probably are at greatest variance with the original intent of Section 4, Public Law 110. 25X1A

2. For the moment we will call the first program the pre-graduation college program. This program contemplates the recruitment, selection, and assessment of a limited number of high potential college students at sophomore level. Such students would be made employees of the Agency at a nominal salary figure, and would be asked to follow a curriculum of our determination which would better prepare them for employment in CIA than any other. Our guidance of their college program might include as much as a change of school, selection of extracurricular activities or perhaps even summer vacation activities. Such a program would involve payment of tuition and related educational expenses, and in addition to the nominal salary, the payment of such extra living, travel, and related expenses as result from participation in the program. Manpower and other limitations allowing, we would expect this program to include approximately 100 per year. The third year, however, would not mean a total of 300 enrolled in the program in that some attrition must be expected. Any discussion of such a program should recognize that a large number of the students enrolled probably would be lost to the Agency for reasons of academic failure, or at least failure in the sense that they would not meet our high standards, or for the other numerous and obvious personal and public reasons which would apply with any such group. The Agency, therefore, would not, in a double-entry sense, be getting full return for its investment.

3. The second program which should be considered in an exploration of our powers under Section 4, P. L. 110, we might call post-graduate study for the new recruit. This program assumes that many college graduates would be of great potential value to the Agency but for reasons of failure to follow the peculiar curriculum which would prepare them specifically for employment in the Agency would require some post-graduate study to complete their preparation. Such recruits would be employed as regular employees upon graduation from college but then would be given post-graduate training in a civilian institution, probably for a year or perhaps even longer, and would draw a regular salary from the Agency. However, the fact that the Agency required them to attend school would necessarily mean that the Agency would have to assume tuition and related educational expenses and further that if additional living and travel expenses grow out of their participation in such a program, the Agency would have to assume that expense also.

4. A third program which should be considered is in many respects similar to the two described above, and might be called a full-time college program for old employees. Here the questions would be practically identical with the program discussed last above except that the participant would be an employee of the Agency who had been selected and sent to a civilian educational institution as a result of the career management program within the Agency. The same kinds of things would have to be paid for by us.

5. Although other aspects of the college training phase of the career program might also be questioned under the present interpretation of Section 4 of P. L. 110, we believe that any action taken to allow the three programs discussed above would blanket in any others we might propose. We have been requested to prepare our recommendations for revision of Paragraph 10.1 of the Confidential Funds Regulations and Administrative Instruction [redacted], but will delay our drafting of such recommendations until receipt of your reply to our general question raised in this memorandum. Your assistance and guidance in the general and specific problems of this uncommon but very important training program will be appreciated.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director (Administration)

THROUGH: Deputy Director (Intelligence)
Deputy Director (Plans)
Director of Training

SUBJECT: Regulation Regarding the Briefing of Outgoing Military Attaches

PROBLEM:

1. To place the responsibility for the briefing of outgoing military attaches and provide general guidance for CIA relations with the Services in this connection.

BACKGROUND:

2. Responsibility for arranging for the briefing of outgoing military attaches was located up until 1951 in the Office of Operations and then was transferred by action of the Director's Office to the present Agency Presentations Officer. By his inclusion in the Office of Training the responsibility moved to the Director of Training.

DISCUSSION:

3. Considering that (a) the CIA briefing function is broader in scope than the interest of the Offices under the DD/I; (b) that the present briefing is to a large extent orientation and training; and (c) the Training Office has the specialized facilities and personnel required to administer the activities, it is believed appropriate for the function to continue to be the responsibility of the Director of Training.

4. It is believed in the administration of this program full use should be made of the Strategic Intelligence School and the Naval Intelligence School since:

a. Past experience shows these schools have been willing to adapt their program to meet our needs and the performance has been satisfactory in view of the DD/I and DD/P Offices concerned.

b. Moving such briefing to the Agency would clearly be an indication of our unwillingness to cooperate with a going facility which the Services have established and which they have offered for our use as might best suit our needs. Failure to use these facilities would create ill-will which would not be offset by any special advantage by having these briefings in the Agency.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

5. Arrangements for CIA briefing of outgoing service attaches of the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force shall be the responsibility of the Director of Training.

6. That any gaps that might exist in the present CIA presentation at the Service Schools be filled through appropriate revision of the CIA lectures at the schools or special briefing.

7. This Agency should not utilize briefings as a device to levy requirements since there already exist channels for that purpose.

8. That for the attaches not attending the Strategic Intelligence School or the Naval Intelligence School the Director of Training make appropriate arrangements for such specialized briefings as may be necessary and mutually agreeable.

9. That Regulation ☐ be accordingly revised.
